Milestones 2014 HONOREES

"Milestones is a great spot for people who don't know where to turn. The organization provides assistance for people during milestone moments in their lives and the lives of their children."

- Mary & David Betsill

MARY & DAVID BETSILL

Mary and David started as professional partners at Ernst & Young and became life partners raising two sons, one of whom has autism. Once moving to Cleveland, their leadership extended to volunteering and supporting The Achievement Centers for Children, Cleveland Clinic Center for Autism, St. Edwards High School and Milestones Autism Resources. David is an officer of the Milestones Board and Chair of the Development Committee. Sharing his knowledge of other non-profits and special needs organizations, David has helped guide the growth of the fundraising capacity of Milestones, working hand in hand with staff and fellow board members. Together, Mary and David have developed a partnership between E&Y and Milestones to include sharing of educational autism resources and training, and generous philanthropic support.

"Milestones offers the support of other parents and of information, all from a person's living room. The accessibility of the information all in one place is a marvelous thing for families."

– Lois Joan Davis

LOIS JOAN DAVIS

Lois gets involved in making life's challenges easier for people by providing comfort and support. Her dedication to the Cleveland Sight Center, the Hebrew Shelter Home, University Hospitals and Ronald McDonald House, as well as Milestones Autism Resources stems from her concern for the physical and emotional needs of people. Lois wanted to make a difference in the lives of individuals and families challenged by autism. She wanted them to feel connected to others going through similar trials and also help them access information that would improve their lives. Lois supported Milestones' new website in 2011 which today provides 1,000 online resources and receives 50,000 unique visitors a year. Lois' support has dramatically improved the access to autism information in our community.

Milestones 2014 HONOREES

"Milestones offers tools for people to move forward in their lives. For people who have been challenged in their lives, where would they be without an organization like Milestones?"

- Ric Eickhoff

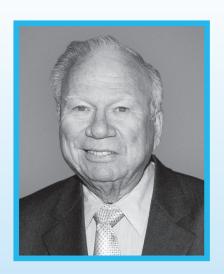

RIC EICKHOFF

Ric is a role model for everyone he comes in contact with. He is an active volunteer for The Gathering Place and John Carroll University's Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. Ric helped to establish the ongoing partnership between the fraternity and Milestones Autism Resources including hands-on volunteering with teens with autism. After bringing the fraternity brothers to volunteer at a Milestones event, Ric instinctively joined them. From then on he took an active role helping to organize special events for the organization. Wherever Ric gets involved, he raises the standard of the program and of the people he works with. Having retired as owner of Palermo Florists, Ric has incorporated his vast professional experience and expertise into his volunteer work. Ric's integrity and tremendous effort have imbued Milestones' events with elegance and heart.

"My foundation was started to improve the quality of life for children and the elderly and to make education more accessible for all."

- Leonard Senkfor

LEONARD SENKFOR

Leonard is a self-made man. The youngest of 12 children, he knows from experience the dramatic difference that hard work and education can make in changing the trajectory of a person's life. After achieving professional and personal success, Leonard started a foundation to support children who experience economic, social, educational, or health challenges in their lives. His empathy and drive to improve the lot of others has been realized through his generous philanthropy to Hattie Larlham, Jewish Family Services Association, Menorah Park, and Milestones Autism Resources among others. Leonard's mission to improve education for all led him to help Milestones initiate its School Team Training program in 2006. Leonard's ongoing support has enabled Milestones to offer innovative educational programs to improve outcomes for children with autism.

November 1, 2014

Dear Community,

We are honored to recognize Mary and David Betsill, Lois Joan Davis, Ric Eickhoff, and Leonard Senkfor. Milestones is fortunate to have been the beneficiaries of their guidance, volunteerism, and support. Milestones is proud to be your local organization for autism resources, strengthened by such passionate supporters, dedicated to making Cleveland a great place for all families.

Thank you all for being here tonight to support our honorees and to help Milestones continue to serve individuals, families, and professionals facing the daily challenges of autism. You are instrumental in enabling us to carry out our mission of supporting our local community.

Help others by sharing what you have learned tonight with someone who can benefit from our services. We welcome your involvement. If you would like to volunteer or share your expertise with others, call us. If you need coaching, we are here to help you at every stage of your journey.

With gratitude,

Adam Berebitsky

Core Values

Learning is life long
Education improves outcomes

People of all abilities have strengths to contribute

Investing in our local community

Being a resource for all

Evidence-based interventions

Vision

A community in which individuals on the autism spectrum reach their full potential as contributing members of society, recognized for their strengths and supported in their challenges.

Mission

Milestones Autism Resources improves the lives of individuals on the autism spectrum by educating, coaching and connecting the autism community with evidence-based information.

*

Mhen it comes to autism.

CORE PROGRAMS

Milestones' annual conference is attended by 1,000 autism service providers and parents throughout Ohio and neighboring states, providing a unique opportunity to learn from local and national experts. Parents, professionals, and adults with autism find out about local resources and continue learning best practices for school, home, community, and work.

"Milestones offers me, as a professional and a parent, the best opportunity to stay up-to-date on resources and treatment services for individuals and families affected by Autism Spectrum Disorder."

-Thomas W. Frazier, PhD, Cleveland Clinic

Milestones helps 400 families in planning, preparing and prioritizing their child's short- and long-term needs each year. Parents and professionals learn techniques to assist them every day in their homes, classrooms, and workplaces. Referral information is provided about services, programs and individual rights.

"It is evident to us that Milestones is deeply committed to helping families.

Thank you for working to improve the quality of life for [our son]."

- Ann Driscoll, Parent

Milestones lends a hand.*

Milestones provides phone and office consultations for teens, adults, and family members. Consultations and action plans are tailored to specific needs and can cover concerns related to independent living, employment, post-secondary education, and social and recreational programs.

"I can't express how emotional I feel to know that I'm actually being heard and understood every time I meet with Beth or anyone from Milestones.

That drive to help and to uplift is a shining beacon in a rough, dark sea."

ONLINE RESOURCES

Our updated website, milestones.org, features over 1,000 educational, therapeutic, medical and recreational resources, along with step-by-step tool kits guiding families through common challenges. An online autism community calendar lists hundreds of workshops and social activities for those impacted by autism.

"The breadth of resources, empirically-grounded content and relevance to a wide array of consumers makes the website an invaluable tool; plus, it's available at anytime and to anyone."

- Tracy Masterson, PhD, John Carroll University
